Positions

Postdoctoral Associate	Massachusetts Institute of Technology	September 2026 – 2027
SLMath Postdoc	SLMath	Fall, 2025
Szegő Assistant Professor	Stanford University	2024 – 2026

Education

Ph.D. in Mathematics University of Texas, Austin 2018 – September 2024
Advisor: Nataša Pavlović
Thesis: On deriving kinetic equations and their structure from classical many-body dynamics

B.S. in Mathematics University of California, Los Angeles 2015 – 2018
With Honors

Awards and Grants

Frank Gerth III Teaching Excellence Award, University of Texas - Austin	May, 2023.
Leibniz Graduate Student Grant, Oberwolfach Research Institute for Mathematics	May, 2022.
Early Career AMS-NSF-Simons-ICM Travel Grant, AMS	January, 2022.
ICERM Visiting Scholar, ICERM and Brown University	Fall, 2021.
RTG Graduate Fellowship, NSF (DMS-1840314) & University of Texas - Austin	2021-2022.
Provost's Graduate Excellence Fellowship, University of Texas - Austin	2018-2023.
REU, UCLA Department of Mathematics	Summer, 2017.

Upcoming Invited Presentations

Frontier of PDE Formalization and Analysis with AI. Invited speaker, SLMath, Berkeley.	December 7th–8th, 2026.
Correlations and relaxation to equilibrium in kinetic theory. MIT, PDE/Analysis Seminar.	October 27th, 2026.

Conference and Seminar Presentations

Banff International Research Station.	August 16th-21st, 2026.
University of Washington, ICM 2026 Satellite Conference: Recent Developments in the Dynamics of Nonlinear PDEs.	August 3rd-7th, 2026.
MIT, New Challenges in the Derivation and Dynamics of Many Body Systems.	May 9th-10th, 2026.
Stanford University, Plasma Science and Technology Seminar Series.	February 19th, 2026.
Princeton University, Analysis Seminar.	February 16th, 2026.
UC Berkeley, Harmonic Analysis and Differential Equations Student Seminar.	November 25th, 2025.
UC Berkeley, Applied PDE Student Seminar.	October 31st, 2025.
UC Berkeley - Economics Dept., Theory Lunch Seminar.	October 29th, 2025.
SLMath Seminar. (Video Link)	September 19th, 2025.
AMS Special Session: Recent Developments in Nonlinear Evolution Equations.	April 5th-6th, 2025.
Stanford University, Analysis and PDE seminar.	January 28th, 2025.
